Mirror Staff

This year the staff has worked hard to present to you this new yearbook. We have for the first time in several years changed the type of printing. We have also incorporated many more pictures into the book. We repeat! This is a new book. We edited it with a new advisor and a new staff and with some confusion. We hope you enjoy receiving it as much as we enjoy presenting it to you.

Stephie and Guy

They look industrious anyway.

Senior Class History

In the fall of 1952 thirty-two scared freshmen and their confident guardian angels entered the halls of T. C. H. S. This was the year that a new president was elected for our nation. We elected our president, Guy Fritz, and vice-president, Mary Ann Swift. Phyllis Schiffbauer was elected secretary; Mary Jo Corrigan was elected treasurer, and Bob Earles was elected reporter. Mr. Mesik was our sponsor.

To raise funds for our future activities, we paid class dues and had bake sales. Our account did not increase very much the first year, but we were proud of what little we did save.

Early in the school year the sophomores inaugurated us into T. C. H. S. We had to dress as cartoon characters and scrub the school steps with toothbrushes. Later the sophomores invited us to a party, and we returned the favor by honoring them with a party in the spring.

In the fall of 1953 we were sophomores. The spark of electricity created by Ben Franklin and his kite 200 years before was nothing compared to the "charge" we created when we entered the halls of T. C. H. S. this fall. We had lost four members, but we had not weakened. "United we stand," and united we stood.

This was the year Stratton was elected governor of Illinois. Important? Yes. But our new officers were also elected. Bob Earles and his guardian angel acquired the honorable office of president. Gayl Milner was chosen vice-president; Guy Fritz, secretary; Beverly Ferroni, treasurer; and Deloris Gray, reporter. Mr. Clark was our sponsor.

This year witnessed the royal ceremony of the crowning of Elizabeth as Queen of England. Our class gave the freshmen a royal welcome into high school. They dressed as cartoon characters, and as our royal subjects they had to bow to us whenever we came into sight.

In May we chose our class rings with delivery promised in the early fall.

In the fall of 1954 we marched faithfully back to T. C. H. S. We had lost two more members and now numbered 27.

This year Mr. Arthur was our sponsor. "Pete" Hiltabrand was president; Beverly Ferroni, vice-president; Bonna Launius, secretary; Bob Earles, treasurer; and Mary Jo was reporter.

This was a great year for us. We sold pop and candy at activities, and we held our bake sales. Miss Boddie helped us produce a comedy play, Desperate Ambrose.

Early in April we sponsored the prom. The theme was "Hawaiian Cruise." We decorated the old gymnasium in Hawaiian motif and invited the seniors as our guests. The "cruise" was very successful; however, it ended too soon, and we had to return to T. C. H. S.

In May we watched the senior graduation ceremonies and anticipated when we too would graduate.

In the fall of 1955 we (now 21) were seniors! We decided to settle down and work a little. Our guardian angels were becoming disgusted at trying to keep up our grades when we didn't seem to care. For many of us this was to be our final year of schooling. This year our efforts were directed toward three goals: school work; the trip to Washington, D. C.; and graduation.

It was a busy year. Remember the selling of pop and candy, the suppers, bake sales, dances, coat checking, concessions, and anything we could think of to make money for that trip to Washington! Remember the comedy play, A Lucky Penny, that Mr. Slabaugh helped us produce?

An employment agency gave us tests to see what position we were best suited for. Many of us were very surprised to see what we were capable of doing.

The juniors sponsored the prom for us in the month of May. Thank you, juniors! We shall always remember it.

The next event to come, and the last one, was graduation. One day in 1956 we were seniors; the next day we were beginners again.

Senior Class Will of 1956

As we, the senior class of 1956, leave our dear old high school where we have spent the last four faithful years having fun and troubles, we realize something must be left so we are not forgotten too soon. With that thought in mind, we leave to the juniors, our last will so they may follow our footsteps and use these to the best advantage, always remembering their predecessor.

Article I Section 1

To T. C. H. S. in the memory of the senior class of 1956, we will twenty-one ounces of flea powder for the deer's head in study hall, rubber mats for the showers to cut down on insurance bills, padlocks for the faucets in the science room, and bells in every room like the one in Mr. Slabaugh's to wake the students at the end of class time.

Article I Section 2

To "Lefty," we will the cleanest school rest rooms in La Salle County.

Article I Section 3

To our loyal bus drivers, we will the cleaning up of the buses after the riders have made them look like a cyclone hit them. We also will them ear plugs in order that they may continue taking fans to the basketball games.

Article II Section 1

To Mrs. Nelson, we as a P. E. class will her the power to make the girls take showers, and as a Home Ec. teacher to have something to show after baking, besides empty pans.

To Mr. Jeter, we will another successful chemistry class and all the memories of our Washington-New York class trip.

To Mr. Slabaugh, we will the ability to discover many actors and actresses for future plays. We also will him many more successful year books.

To Mr. Rossok, we will a band that is always "on the beat" and a first division in state contest.

To Mrs. Irvine, we will that the library always be orderly, and also we will her a remedy for her headaches caused by our unpaid library fines.

To Mrs. Marshall, we will a solution to remove mimeograph ink so she can clean her hands after every edition of the School Daze.

To Mr. Clark, we will an all-star basketball team that will sometime in the future take the State Championship.

To Mrs. Peterson, we will another huge Latin Class and the skill to keep count of all the class treasures.

To Mr. Irvine, we will that the light in his pipe shall never go out.

Last, but not least, to Mr. Earles we will a few guards to control the students who at dinner time act like they haven't seen food before.

Article II Section 2

I, Anne Ashley, will my study hall desk, next to the magazine rack, to Janet Mareta so that she may read magazines when she should be studying.

I, Johnny Beenenga, will my naturally curly hair to Kenny Zimmerman.

I, Sandy Calkins, will my interest in a milk truck to Donna Rowe.

I, Bob Cave, will to Donald Watson my .450 batting average.

I, Mary Jo Corrigan, do hereby bequeath my ability in getting good marks in chemistry to Lorraine Theisinger in hopes that she will flunk just like I did.

I, Bob Earles, will my ability to do nothing and appear to be doing something to Gerry Gingerich.

I, Bev Ferroni, will my height to Donna Sarver.

I, Guy Fritz, will my ability to shoot a hook shot to my old referee buddy, Donald Minick.

I, Judy Gehm, will my ability to laugh anywhere, anytime, any place, at anything to Rita Cofoid.

I, Eleanor Harseim, will my southern drawl to Sharon Siemers.

I, Bobby Ray Hiltabrand, will my ability to argue with anyone, and anywhere, at anytime to Richard Marshall.

I, Duane Klehm, will my agility to Randy Locke.

I, Bonna Launius, do will to Donnette Siemers all my used shorthand notebooks so that she may write between the lines and not have to buy so many notebooks next year.

I, Chuck Miller, will my slow talking to Randy Locke.

I, Gayl Milner, will my strong will power not to eat sweets to Judy Goodbred.

I, Roger Plock, will my ability to "fly low" and make noise to the junior boys.

I, Phyllis Schiffbauer, will my ability to come to every basketball game to Sharon Klieber.

I, Mary Ann Swift, will my blushing red face to Barbara Gedye in hopes that she can get better results than I did.

I, Stephanie Sydlowski, will to the junior girls to take the car whenever I want it.

I, Diane Whitaker, will my tallness to Janet Alleman.

I, Maibelle Wiertz, will my ability to drive fast to Patsy Sauter.

I, Marene Zimmerman, will my ability to get on the honor roll to Janet Earhart with hopes she will have better results than I did.

Senior Prophecy 1956

In the year 1966 a friend and I decided to take another of our many rocket-ship trips. We are indeed thankful to Judy Gehm and Pete Hiltabrand for inventing the amazing formula for out of space flying.

When we approached the "rocketport," who do you suppose was the doorman? None other than Chuck Miller. We chatted a while, but then we came to the conclusion that we had better purchase our tickets before the ship took off without us.

At the ticket counter we called to a young lady, and when Anne Ashley turned around she shouted in surprise. It was unbelievable! Mary Jo was on the roof of the glass structure doing a tap duet with her fiance, Mike.

Soon the attractive Phyllis Schiffbauer came in with her bugle, and she gave us the signal that the rocket was ready to leave.

Zoom! We were off for outer space.

We had always wondered what the control panel looked like, so we asked the pretty stewardess, Eleanor Harseim, if we could take a look at it. She obliged, and we made "tracks" to the control room.

The pilot as well as the co-pilot seemed familiar when I approached them. Guess what! They were none other than Diane and boyfriend, Howard. They were trying to listen to Bob Earles' political speech over the space radio and were having a difficult time concentrating on the controls. You see, Bob was running for United States President.

Although we were traveling 1999 miles per hour it seemed we would never reach the refueling station on Mars. We had no sooner spoken our thoughts to each other when we started to land on the Jeter Rocket-port, where Mr. Jeter was teaching one of his many classes.

We had no sooner landed when a handsome young man named Johnny Beenenga came zipping around servicing the ship for the next jaunt.

As soon as the ramp was lowered and the escalator set up, we headed toward Bonna and Charlie's Cafe. They were very happy to see us. It seems that they had had a little tiff about how to fry hamburgers, and marriage counselor, Roger Ploch, had given them some fine advice. (They fry them Ploch style now.)

We were almost home when we sighted a meteor heading toward us. The pilots lost contact while trying to dodge it, and we speeded toward earth in a "nose dive." After the crash everyone was taken to the Tonica Atom Controlled Hospital, which was operated and sponsored by the very successful Beverly Ferroni.

It was here that Dr. Guy Fritz and Dr. Stephy Sydlowski, his brilliant assistant, told us that no one was injured.

Before we were released, we learned that Duane Klehm had completed a remarkable feat. The world would forever be at peace, thanks to the Klehmintine Peace Treaty with all nations.

It was about time for the new edition of the Sandra National Times to be on sale, so we picked up a copy. You see, Sandra Calkins was editor and owner of the largest newspaper in the universe.

We were very happy to see in this paper that Gayl Milner had been selected as the most constructive and ambitious young debutante. She was sponsoring the reunion of the class of 1956 today in the halls of T. C. H. S.

As we glanced at the M. T. V. (Mars Television), we couldn't believe our eyes! There was mistress of ceremonies, Marlene Zimmerman, introducing the great magician, Maibelle Wiertz. Maibelle said that she was doing no magic on this show, but just then Mary Ann Swift, the beautiful model, jumped out of her hat.

We hurried back to our ship after lunch.

As soon as we reached the moon, we rushed to our seats in the Tonica Stadium. It was there that Bob Cave was playing singlehanded against the Harlem Moon Trotters. It was a miraculous moonslide. Bob won by 107 points. Boy, does he have a fan club! We got Bob's autograph and started back to earth.

Junior Class History

We started with nineteen students in this, our junior year. We have neither lost nor gained anyone since.

Gerry Gingerich was chosen to lead the class. We started at once to earn money for the Prom by sponsoring bake sales, a square dance, a fish supper, a leap-year dance, and we sold pop and candy at the games and noon-hour.

On March 23, we had our play which was a comedy-mystery titled, "OFF THE TRACK."

In May we sponsored the prom, and it was the highlight of our junior year.

Sophomore Class History

The Sophomore Class started its year at T. C. H. S. with 12 boys and 16 girls. We lost one member, Rose Corrigan, during the year.

To start the year's activities right, we initiated the "freshies" and later gave a party for them. The freshmen gave a return party for us, which we all enjoyed.

Our money-making activities were limited to one very successful bake sale.

All in all, we had a very enjoyable Sophomore year and are eager to return next year as "upper classmen." (At last!)

Freshman Class History

We, 25 new and frightened freshmen, entered T. C. H. S. this fall.

Early in the school year we were initiated at a party sponsored by the Sophomore class. Later in the year we gave a return party for them. At the return party, we had a scavenger hunt and later danced in the gym.

On February fourteenth, we had a Valentine's party during first-hour algebra. We had cookies for refreshments.

We made money by collecting dues and by having a bake sale.

Junior and Senior Prom

A delicious banquet was served in the Hawaiian atmosphere by the class of '56 in honor of the class of '55 on April 23, 1955. The menu consisted of: A Waikiki Wonder, Game of the Jungle, Diced Bamboo, Volcanic Eruption, Molten Lava, Tornadoes and Gales, Kahili, and Taro Cake. Robert Hiltabrand, junior class president, issued the welcome; and Eugene Huss, president of the senior class, gave the response. Gayl Milner and Mary Jane Kenney started the program off with a vocal duet. The senior class prophecy, was read by Beverly Ferroni. Carol Walgenbach read the class will. What wonders the juniors should become! Janet Alleman played a piano solo. Rev. McMahon gave the benediction.

At 9 o'clock the music of Don Adams' orchestra enticed the huge crowd into a dancing mood. Halfway through the evening, the crowning of the King and Queen took place. Carol Walgenbach and Bob Corrigan had the honors. The evening sped to a rapid close.

Mirror Queen

On March 3, 1956, the Mirror Queen contest came to a close with the crowning of our queen, Sandy Calkins, by Beverly Ferroni. The attendants were as follows:

Gayl Milner, second place
Sharon Siemers, third place
Bonna Launius, fourth place
Gloria Shawback, fifth place

Senior Class Play

The Senior Class presented A Lucky Penny on November 4. The action took place on the terrace of the Pringle home.

Miss Pringle becomes so engrossed with her study of art that she neglects her family, boy friend, and everything for the sake of art. In the attempt to bring her back to her senses, the whole family went "arty." The results were hilarious when singing, music, exercising, and dancing invaded the Pringle home.

School Daze

While trying to make this year's "School Daze" as professional as possible, the staff made many changes. Most of the work was done after school. A two column paper was changed to a three column production. Probably the most important improvement was the purchase of a new mimeograph.

May the future "School Daze" staffs continue to publish an interesting, news-filled paper.

The purpose of the chapter is to promote a growing appreciation of homemaking, and to foster the development of creative leadership in home and community life. Each year our chapter sends one of its members to state camp at Lake Bloomington. To better the relationship between the community and the school, our chapter has participated in numerous activities: World Christmas Festival, Parliamentary Proceedure Contest, Christmas Caroling Party, Television Programs, making bean bags for grade school pupils, and other activities.
